PREFACE

As a member of De La Salle Philippines, De La Salle-College of Saint Benilde (DLS-CSB) distinguishes itself from its sister units by way of orientation. The attribute refers to the inclusive character of the institution, rooted in the recognition of the multidimensionality of human intelligence, and evidenced by the distinct manner by which it diagnoses students admitted into the institution. Such inclusiveness has brought into the College a diverse population – students, faculty, and personnel of various inclinations and capabilities.

The attribute of inclusiveness almost instantaneously demands a particular philosophical orientation that veers from the traditional educational philosophy. This orientation is simply defined as learner-centered. Unlike the traditional view that looks at the student as a mere receptacle of the knowledge handed down by an all-knowing teacher, a learner-centered educational philosophy recognizes that the student is intrinsically motivated to learn, and should therefore be actively engaged in the process of learning. To realize this, the administrator shall support in attaining this objective.

While the orientation may be defined in simple terms, the pursuit of greater learner-centeredness is undeniably challenging. It requires every member of the College to be continually conscious of how each contributes to setting up an environment that is conducive to learning. The task also demands from the College the establishment of institutional arrangements that would enable its key human resources – the academic faculty – to carry out their tasks. In this pursuit, the College must endeavor to assist the academic faculty in gaining an understanding of their functions, becoming motivated in fulfilling these, and obtaining the support necessary to facilitate their own professional growth.

As a product of discussions among representatives of the DLS-CSB administration and the personnel, this document encapsulates the commitment of the sectors concerned to progressively fulfill their roles for the holistic formation of the most valuable constituents of the College: the students.
ST. JOHN BAPTIST DE LA SALLE (1651-1719)

John Baptist de La Salle was born into a world very different from our own. He was the first son of wealthy parents living in France over 300 years ago. Born at Reims, De La Salle received the tonsure at age eleven and was named Canon of the Reims Cathedral at sixteen. Though he had to assume the administration of family affairs after his parents died, he completed his theological studies and was ordained a priest on April 9, 1678. Two years later, he received a doctorate in theology. Meanwhile, he became tentatively involved with a group of rough and barely literate young men in order to establish schools for poor boys.

At that time, a few people lived in luxury, but most of the people were extremely poor: peasants in the country and slum dwellers in the towns. Only a few could send their children to school; most children had little hope for the future. Moved by the plight of the poor who seemed so "far from salvation" either in this world or the next, he determined to put his own talents and advanced education at the service of the children "often left to themselves and badly brought up." To be more effective, he abandoned his family home, moved in with the teachers, renounced his position as Canon and his wealth, and so formed the community that became known as the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

His enterprise met opposition from the ecclesiastical authorities who resisted the creation of a new form of religious life, a community of consecrated laymen to conduct gratuitous schools "together and by association." The educational establishment resented his innovative methods and his insistence on gratuity for all, regardless of whether they could afford to pay or not. Nevertheless, De La Salle and his Brothers succeeded in creating a network of quality schools throughout France that featured instruction in the vernacular, students grouped according to ability and achievement, integration of religious instruction with secular subjects, well-prepared teachers with a sense of vocation and mission, and the involvement of parents. In addition, De La Salle was a pioneer in founding training colleges for teachers, reform schools for delinquents, technical schools, and secondary schools for modern languages, arts, and sciences. His work quickly spread through France. Worn out by austerities and exhausting labors, he died at Saint Yon near Rouen early in 1719 on Good Friday, only weeks before his sixty-eighth birthday.

After his death, his work continued to spread across the globe. In 1900, John Baptist de La Salle was declared a Saint. In 1950, he was made Patron Saint of all those who work in the field of education because of his life and inspirational writings. John Baptist de La Salle inspired others how to teach and care for young people, how to meet failure and frailty with compassion, how to affirm, strengthen and heal. At the present time, there are De La Salle schools in 80 different countries around the globe.

DE LA SALLE PHILIPPINES

Preamble

Deeply moved, as St. John Baptist de La Salle was by the plight of the poor and youth at risk we, the members of the Lasallian schools in the Philippines, commit ourselves to the Lasallian Mission of providing a human and Christian education to the young, especially in schools, with the service of the poor as priority, in order to evangelize and catechize, to promote peace, justice, and integrity of creation, accomplishing these together in association. We draw strength from the many Lasallians committed to incarnating our charism in our country today to serve the needs of Filipino youth, especially those at risk.

Declaration

Inflamed by the Holy Spirit, God’s own Fire, we declare our commitment to the following:

- We shall work together as a national network of Lasallian schools in the Philippines for the efficient and effective implementation of the Lasallian Mission, following the directives of the De La Salle Brothers and the Philippine Lasallian Family as set by the General Chapter, the District Chapter and the Philippine Lasallian Family Convocation.
- We shall ensure the integrity of the Lasallian Mission by setting directions and standards applicable to Philippine Lasallian schools and by monitoring their implementation.
- We shall promote the Lasallian Mission by fostering synergy, collaboration and sharing among the Lasallian schools.
- We shall uphold the Lasallian values of faith, zeal in service and communion in mission.

Prayer

In all these, we, together and by association, dedicate our life and work to God, who alone guarantees the fulfillment of our Lasallian dream.
Pierre Romançon was born to a poor peasant family in the village of Thuret in south-central France. He was so far ahead of his classmates in elementary school that, when he was only fourteen years old, the Brothers engaged him as a substitute teacher. He felt a strong desire to be a Lasallian Brother and despite the objection of his parents and the reluctance of the superiors, who thought he was too short of stature, he was admitted to the novitiate and assumed the name Benilde.

He loved teaching children and spent 40 years in the classroom. From 1821 to 1841, he taught successfully in the network of elementary schools conducted by the Brothers out of the administrative center at Clermont-Ferrand. In 1841, he was appointed Director of a school that was opening in Saugues, an isolated village on a barren plateau in southern France. For the next twenty years, he worked quietly and effectively as teacher and principal to educate the boys in the village and some from the neighboring farms, many of whom were in their teens and had never been to school before. In time, the little school became the center of the social and intellectual life of the village, with evening classes for the adults and tutoring for the less gifted students.

Brother Benilde’s extraordinary religious sense was evident to everyone: at Mass with the students in the parish church, teaching catechism, preparing boys for first communion, visiting and praying with the sick, and rumors of near-miraculous cures. In his desire to allow a deaf boy to take his first Holy Communion, he endeavored to learn sign language so that the boy could be taught catechism and be allowed to be a true Christian.

He was especially effective in attracting religious vocations. At his death, more than 200 Brothers and an impressive number of priests had been his students at Saugues.

In 1928, Benilde Romançon was declared a Saint. At his beatification, Pope Pius XI said, “Sanctity does not consist in doing extraordinary things, but in doing ordinary things extraordinarily well.” His deep faith and zeal encouraged many young men to the priesthood and religious life, and he became known as the patron saint of vocations.

Lasallian education is geared towards the integral human and Christian development of diverse types of learners, and prepares them for responsible participation in the world of work, the family, the community, the wider society, and the local Church. It stresses the importance of synergy, collaboration, and dialogue. It also encourages critical and creative thinking, self-knowledge and self-mastery. The learning environment is founded on the belief that each learner is uniquely endowed with God-given talents and gifts that need to be understood, appreciated, and nurtured. As a Lasallian school, the De La Salle-College of Saint Benilde espouses and promotes a culture that puts the learners at its core.

A learner-centered school is committed to seeking answers to the following questions: “What is best for learners? How will learning be most effectively facilitated?” Learner-centered education operates according to what is known about individual learners (their heredity, experiences, perspectives, backgrounds, talents, interests, capacities, and needs) and the learning process (the best available knowledge about learning and how it occurs, including effective teaching practices that promote the highest levels of motivation, learning, and achievement for all learners); and applying this knowledge to improve practice.

In a learner-centered school, education is both a shared mission and a collaborative effort among students, faculty, staff, administrators, alumni, and parents. There is a deep-seated respect for each and every member of this learning community. College students are certainly learners. Faculty are learners, too, as they inquire into the content of their disciplines, and as they develop their instructional, technical, and research skills. Administrators are learners as they enhance their leadership abilities, spearhead curricular directions, and ensure a conducive learning environment. Staff are learners as they seek ways to do their jobs more effectively and efficiently, and as they advance their knowledge through continuing education and training. Alumni are learners as they build on the foundation established in their college education and as they continually develop their expertise. Parents are learners as they engage with the College community in promoting the best interest of the students.

As a Lasallian learner-centered institution, we accompany students in their journeys of faith development and personal transformation, and share with them meaningful learning encounters that will enable them to become among others, creative thinkers, competent professionals and socially responsible citizens. We believe that this kind of educational experience will lead to more sustained and more powerful learning from which students can draw insights and lessons beyond their formal education.

It is our strong belief that in order to optimize learning and effect positive learning outcomes, classes, services, and other relevant activities must reflect the goals of the College. To this end, we are committed to creating learning environments and experiences that allow students to discover and construct knowledge for themselves, with as many options for learning as possible; and providing quality teaching through a pool of faculty who are adequately trained in facilitating learner-centered instruction.

To guide us in our pursuit of this vision, DLS-CSB adheres to the following principles about learners, the learning process, and the learning environment:

To be learner-centered means to learn continuously. A learner has a willful desire to continuously improve and shows an enduring interest to learn. He believes that learning is a lifelong endeavor.

To be learner-centered means to evaluate learning experiences. Reflection and evaluation of learning experiences engender further learning.
To be learner-centered means to advance synergy and collaboration. A learner knows that learning is a shared mission.

To be learner-centered means to respect diversity. A learning environment is supportive if it treats its members equitably and recognizes each individual’s unique gifts.

To be learner-centered means to nurture relationships. Sound and positive relationships promote successful attainment of learning goals.

THE EXPECTATIONS OF DE LA SALLE-COLLEGE OF SAINT BENILDE

The College regards its human resources as its greatest assets. It is committed to act with justice and with the highest regard for human dignity in its dealings with its personnel.

In turn, the College expects the following from its personnel:

1. Courtesy

   Every personnel represent the College in dealings with students, visitors, parents, faculty members, and the general public. Personnel are therefore expected to be courteous and polite at all times with the appropriate body language and respectful language (e.g. through the use of “Good Morning/Afternoon/Evening,” “Thank you,” “You’re Welcome,” and other similar expressions of courtesy).

2. Punctuality and attendance

   The interrelationship of the various departments and their dependence on one another requires prompt and diligent personnel presence in all offices and places of work at their relevant scheduled hours. Staggered hours for noon and merienda breaks are expected in certain offices.

3. Promptness in service

   Promptness is manifested in the immediate attention and action taken by personnel on official matters assigned to them. Prompt delivery of services to all constituents of the community is a must.

4. Trustworthiness

   Working in an educational institution exposes personnel to confidential matters: examination and admission test results, test questions, accounting and personnel records, enrollment-related documents, student records, correspondence, sales revenue report, hotel client databases, and the like, which should be kept in strict confidence. In matters pertaining to trust and confidentiality of work, personnel must prioritize loyalty to the institution over friendship.

5. Office decorum

   All personnel are expected to adhere to the following proper office decorum:

   a) Avoiding boisterous laughter and unruly behavior.
   b) Dealing with co-workers and other DLS-CSB personnel with courtesy and tact. Be professional in all dealings with all members of the community (students, faculty, staff, administrators and guests).
   c) Avoiding borrowing items from co-workers, especially money; so as to avoid problems in working relationships.
   d) Valuing other people’s work; if there is a need for improvements in a specific work area, suggested solutions should be presented along with the constructive observation.
   e) Completing tasks within deadlines. Deadlines are set for good reasons.
f) Refraining from public displays of affection and open expressions of strong emotion on campus, especially during office hours.
g) Avoiding gossips, speaking with an inappropriately loud voice, and using vulgar words. Verbal behavior is a reflection of personal character.
h) Adhering diligently to protocol and procedures, particularly in the release of pertinent information.

6. Good housekeeping

All personnel are expected to properly observe good housekeeping, as follows:

A. Safekeeping of College property

College property entrusted to the care of, or given for the use of personnel must be carefully kept and handled for proper turn-over and accountability later on. All personnel will be held accountable for losses or damage arising from abuse or negligence.

B. Tidiness and cleanliness

Tidiness and cleanliness of office/work areas are important from the point of view of general appearance, resulting in neat and methodical work. It is everyone’s responsibility to ensure that this is observed. All offices and work stations should be made orderly and locked at the end of each working day.

C. Air-conditioning/lights/office equipment

Personnel located near the switches or those who leave last have the responsibility of turning off all air-conditioners and lights at the end of the day. All personnel should switch off their own office equipment (e.g., computers, electrical typewriters, counting machines) after use.

D. Personal valuables

Personal valuables should not be left within campus premises at any time. The College will not be responsible for the loss of any personal money and other personal valuables kept by the personnel in their desks or cabinets.

E. Parameters for staying in offices

Personnel should use the office and office resources for the specific purpose of office work and within the prescribed office hours. Only personnel with permission to stay beyond office hours can remain in the office.

7. Personal grooming

Good personal grooming simply means coming to the office in proper and appropriate uniform or in business attire. When personnel work closely together in offices, personal cleanliness is essential. “Avoid Extremes” is the standard rule for good grooming and clothing.
Coming to work in proper uniform or business attire is recognition of one’s affiliation with the school. The prescribed uniform should be worn properly (cleaned and properly ironed) at all times. When the designated uniform for a given day is not available, personnel should come to work dressed in appropriate business/office attire (no jeans, collarless T-shirts, or shorts).

Wearing of sneakers should be avoided, except for those performing manual work. All office personnel are required to wear formal shoes during weekdays. Wearing of sandals, slippers, and other footwear are to be avoided (see Appendix A for Implementing Guidelines on Personal Grooming).

All Hotel Benilde personnel should follow the code of conduct/house rules of the Hotel in terms of good grooming and the appropriate attire for standard Hotel operations.

8. Dependability

Dependable personnel does his/her work and knows that he/she is responsible for it. He/She must call or inform his/her office if he/she cannot report for work. He/she stays on the job and finishes all required tasks.

9. Initiative

A personnel is expected to be on the alert for better ways of doing things without being told. He/She should be quick to improvise, but should also always validate plans with his/her supervisor. If he/she is in doubt, he/she should seek guidance from his/her superiors.

10. Consideration for others

Considerate personnel find time to help fellow personnel who are laden with work. This virtue invariably leads to higher morale, better office teamwork, and greater productivity.

11. Use of College resources

Office equipment may be used only with the permission of one’s immediate head. No office or shop equipment may be taken off-campus without the written endorsement of the relevant office heads and the approval of the Department Head. Such resources should be utilized in relation to one’s functions.

A. Office equipment and computers

Equipment assigned to personnel is not for their exclusive use. Personnel should take care to avoid using items in ways that would preclude their official use by others (e.g. no locking-in of computers). Personnel should save their files responsibly to preserve confidentiality of information.
B. Office facilities and telephone usage

The privilege to use office telephones for personal calls should not be abused. Such calls should be kept at a minimum and made, if possible, during break periods.

Proper telephone etiquette should be observed at all times. All personnel are always reminded to use standardized responses when using the telephone. A personnel greets the caller, identifies his/her office, and offers assistance, such as taking messages and properly relays the message received. Long distance calls require prior authorization of the office head.

C. Office supplies

Office supplies are for office use only.

12. Use of Information

Information should be made available for decision-making. Users must be provided accurate, reliable and consistent information necessary to perform their jobs. Personnel must carefully manage DLS-CSB data to ensure accuracy, reliability, and availability. Open sharing of information must be balanced against the need to restrict availability of classified, proprietary, and sensitive information.

5.8.1.1.1. Leave with Pay (LWP) is an approved absence that is covered under the leave benefits provided by the College: vacation, sickness, maternity/paternity, emergencies or force majeure, as properly evaluated and endorsed by the immediate and/or department head and approved by the HRD.

5.9.2. A fraction of an hour is not considered overtime work. The minimum for overtime work is one hour. Hours counted for overtime do not include break period. Considering this factor, the heads should be reminded of the official work schedule of the personnel.

5.9.3. Overtime work should be used only as a last resort when the work to be done cannot be handled by the available/current manpower schedule.

5.9.3.1. Three (3) successive overtimes in a week should not be permitted since this would indicate that the work being done needs to be re-planned and re-scheduled to meet its intended results. Overtime work is not a regular feature of any job in the College; otherwise there is a need to restudy the job description and work responsibilities.

5.9.3.2. Successive overtimes may be allowed only during critical operational needs such as but not limited to enrollment, extensive repairs of facilities, etc. The concerned department head must notify the HRD.

5.9.4. Unauthorized overtime work shall not be compensated.

5.9.5. Overtime pay is charged to the requesting office/department budget.

5.9.6. Except for meritorious reasons, immediate heads should not allow the personnel to go on overtime if: (1) the personnel incurred under-time the previous day, and (2) the personnel have an unexcused tardiness for the day.

5.9.7. Overtime is not allowed on Sundays and holidays except for scheduled activities approved by the next higher authority.

5.11.2. Working during sleeping periods

Whether or not the sleeping time allowed a personnel will be considered as part of his working time will depend upon the expressed or implied agreement of the parties. In the absence of an agreement, it will depend upon the nature of the service and its relation to the working time. The rule is that sleeping time may be considered working time if it is subject to serious interruption or takes place under conditions substantially less desirable than what would likely to exist at the personnel’s home. However, sleeping time will not be regarded as working time if there is an opportunity for comparatively uninterrupted sleep under fairly desirable conditions, even though the personnel is required to remain on or near the employer’s premises and must hold himself/herself in readiness for a call to immediate action.

5.12. On Call

A personnel who is required to remain within the employer’s premises or so close thereto that he cannot use the time effectively for his own purposes is working “on call.” A personnel who is not required to remain in the employer’s premises but is merely required to leave word at his home or with company officials where he may be reached is not working on call.

5.13. Night Shift Differential Pay

5.13.1. Every personnel shall be paid a night shift differential of not less than ten percent (10%) of his regular wage for each hour of work performed between ten o’clock in the evening and six o’clock in the morning of the following day.
5.13.2. If overtime work or work in excess of eight (8) hours falls within the aforesaid period, premiums for overtime work should first be integrated into the regular hourly rate of the personnel before computing for night shift pay.

5.14.4. Late filing of the OB form requires approval from the Next Higher Authority of the immediate head.

5.14.5. OB does not include transfer within DLS-CSB campuses. The personnel should log-in/out at his/her assigned campus.

5.14.6. If a personnel is on official business in another campus that would require him/her to stay until 9:15 p.m. and beyond, he/she is no longer required to log-out in the assigned campus.

5.15.2. Personnel who have not yet been issued their prescribed uniform must wear decent professional office attire.

5.15.3. Exemption in the wearing of the prescribed uniform, due to valid reasons, shall require prior approval from the head with notice given to HRD. Late notice shall be subject to the HRD Head’s approval.

Thus, these guidelines are set to govern the handling of grievances and to ensure fair and impartial hearing of grievances.

10.2. Grievance is any question by either the College or personnel regarding the interpretation or application of Employment Policies and Conditions or any claim by either party (College or personnel) that the other party is violating any of these policies. It may also be any dispute or controversy with respect to the terms and conditions of employment which personnel(s) may present to the College for the purpose of resolving and satisfying the same expeditiously. 10.3.2.13. If the complaint qualifies as an administrative/discipline case, it may proceed as such.
SECTION 11: DISCIPLINE

11.1. The College believes in fairness, objectivity, and consistency in its dealings with personnel. Personnel discipline is the right and responsibility of the College to regulate all aspects of employment of staff. It is a mechanism that imposes standards of behavior through policies, rules, and regulations that will ensure staff self-control and orderly conduct within the College. Every staff is entitled to due process and is given the right to air his/her side before any disciplinary action will be implemented should it be established that an offense was committed. These guidelines are set to govern the handling of discipline cases.

11.2. General Provisions:

The periods prescribed in the subsequent provisions are general references. In cases of delay, this should be within a reasonable period.

11.2.1. The College adopts a Progressive Discipline Approach which espouses reformation of behavior. The model utilizes scales of penalties, and considers mitigating and aggravating circumstances (e.g., tenure, age, position, habitualness), in the proper imposition of penalty.

11.2.2. It shall be the duty of personnel to familiarize themselves with all government and DLS-CSB rules and regulations pertaining to their positions and duties. All personnel are expected to conduct themselves properly in their relationship with each other with the ordinary and established norm of human conduct and behavior.

11.2.3. No disciplinary action shall be imposed on any personnel except for violation of College’s norms of conduct or disciplinary policies, laws, rules and regulations, and guidelines and after observance of due process through the Human Resource Department (HRD).

11.2.4. The table of penalties and sanctions prescribed for personnel discipline offenses serves as a preventive measure for the personnel and as a guide for the disciplining authority when evaluating any offense.

11.2.5. The College reserves the right to mitigate or impose more severe sanctions or penalties other than those prescribed regardless of whether the offense is the first commission. Similar or more different infractions may incur greater penalties or sanction depending on the presence of mitigating and aggravating circumstances.

11.2.6. The discipline offenses listed in the sections are not inclusive. There may be acts not included in this manual but remain offenses (e.g. acts covered in the Hotel Benilde Rules, acts prohibited by law defined by law as prohibited or criminal acts), which may be subject to disciplinary action by the College as determined by the appropriate parties.

11.2.7. The withdrawal of a complaint may not result in the dismissal of the complaint, should there be basis or merit to the charges filed.

11.3. Types of Offenses

Disciplinary actions may be classified into three offenses:

A. Offenses Against CSB Interests and Approved Policies.
B. Offenses Against Persons

C. Offenses Against Public Morals

11.4. Imposable Penalty

11.4.1. Written Reprimand - This is a written reprimand as a penalty for a minor offense, usually on the first commission, or after a verbal warning. This serves to inform the personnel that repeated offenses would be dealt with stiffer sanctions.

11.3.2. Suspension - An enforced leave of absence from active duty on a non-pay status, which is imposed upon the personnel as a penalty for significant misconduct or repeated offenses or of lesser nature than that warranting dismissal. The length of suspension for disciplinary reasons depends upon the gravity of the offense.

11.3.3. Termination / Dismissal

11.3.3.1. An action taken for serious offenses when the objectives of personnel correction and rehabilitation are considered not practicable, or for repeated offenses not necessarily of a similar nature. Violation of certain rules may result in outright separation on first offense.

11.3.3.2. The penalty of termination shall carry with it the forfeiture of the salary-related and non-salary-related benefits excluding payment for services or work rendered and personal contribution in the retirement fund. The Board may modify the recommendation for forfeiture of benefits depending on the gravity of the offense committed (e.g., forfeiture of employer contribution to the retirement fund). However, earned benefits (e.g. earned salary and earned leave credits) are excluded from the forfeiture.

11.3.3.3. The penalty of termination shall not prevent the College from filing separate criminal and/or civil complaint against the terminated staff.

11.5. Other Measures

11.5.1. PREVENTIVE SUSPENSION

11.5.1.1. This serves not as a punishment or penalty, but as a preventive measure and should not be considered part of the actual penalty that may be imposed subsequently should the personnel be found guilty.

11.5.1.2. Pending investigation, the respondent may be placed under preventive suspension on a non-pay status by the HRD Head in consultation with the VCA and a representative of the EA, for a period not exceeding 30 days for offenses involving dishonesty, grave misconduct, serious and habitual neglect of duty, if the personnel poses a threat to the properties of the employer or to the lives of other personnel, or if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the respondent is guilty of charges which would warrant termination. The decision to place the respondent under preventive suspension must be in writing stating the grounds/basis/bases thereof.
11.5.1.3. Only in meritorious cases, as determined by the Discipline Board, should preventive suspension be extended provided that said extension is not through the fault of the respondent and the personnel shall now be entitled to his/her pay only on the extended suspension.

11.5.2. COUNSELING

The erring personnel may be required to undergo counseling or seek professional help.

11.6. Successive and Multiple Violations

A. When a single act constitutes two or more offenses under the Staff Handbook, or when an offense is a necessary means for committing the other, the penalty for the more/most serious offense shall be imposed.

<th>Aggravating*</th>
<th>Imposable Penalty</th>

<td>One step lower</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>X</td>
<td>X</td>
<td>As stated</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>X</td>
<td>/</td>
<td>One step higher</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

11.7.2.1. The penalty could be reduced by more than one step if there are more mitigating circumstances present; the penalty as stated if the circumstances (mitigating and aggravating) off-set each other; and the penalty could be increased by more than one step if there are more aggravating circumstances.

11.7.2.2. Aggravating circumstances are those that increase the seriousness or outrageousness of a given offense, and that in turn increase the wrongdoer's penalty or punishment. For example, a physical attack is made worse because it is committed with a dangerous weapon and results to severe bodily injury, or is made in conjunction with another serious crime.
11.7.2.3. Mitigating circumstances are those which do not constitute a justification or excuse for an offense but which may be considered as reasons for reducing the degree of blame. For example, a physical attack may be mitigated if the wrongdoer is provoked.

This secondment agreement is initiated at the Vice Chancellor level and approved by the respective Presidents-Chancellors of the affected institutions.

OBJECTIVE

Secondment is done as a means of improving the business operational and learning-delivery processes of the institutions participating in this activity through the concepts of sharing and collaboration.

SCOPE

This policy will cover both non-teaching and teaching personnel, including Lasallian Brothers at DLS-CSB and the participating Lasallian institutions.

   ii. For work in excess of eight hours performed on a scheduled rest day, a special day or a regular holiday: Plus 30% of the hourly rate on said days.

1. Illustration: Using 466 as basic daily rate and 58.25 as basic hourly rate (monthly rate x 12 months divide by 313 days divide by 8 hours).
   a. Overtime pay on an ordinary day
      P58.25 + (25% of P58.25)
      = 58.25 + (.25 x 58.25)

   or

      125% of P58.25 = 1.25 x 58.25 = P72.82 OT/hr

   b. Overtime pay on a rest day or on a special day
      (130% of 58.25) + 30% of (130% of 58.25)

      130% of (130% of P58.25) = 1.3 (1.3 x 58.25) = P98.44 OT/hr

   c. Overtime pay which falls on a rest day on a special day
      150% of 58.25 + 30% of (150% of 58.25)
      = (1.5 x 58.25) + .3(1.5 x 58.25)

   d. Overtime pay on a regular holiday (200% of P58.25) + 30% of (200% of 58.25)
      = (2 x 58.25) + .3(2 x 58.25)

e. Overtime pay on a rest day which falls on a regular holiday \[ 260\% \text{ of } 58.25 + 30\% \text{ of } (260\% \text{ of } 58.25) \\
= (2.6 \times 58.25) + 0.3(2.6 \times 58.25) \\

b. Payment will be made on the next payroll provided that the following condition is met:
   i. If the overtime form is submitted to HRD between the 1\textsuperscript{st} and 15\textsuperscript{th} of the month, the payment will be made on the 29\textsuperscript{th} payroll date and vice-versa, or if the authorized overtime work is scheduled at least 7 working days prior to the release of payroll (overtime work cut-off date: 7 working days).

SOCIAL SECURITY LAW OF 1997 (RA 1161 AS AMENDED BY RA 8282)

a. Sickness benefits – a daily cash allowance paid for the number of days a member is unable to work due to sickness or injury.
Qualifying conditions:

i. The member is unable to work due to sickness or injury and is confined either in a hospital or at home for at least four (4) days.
ii. He/she has paid at least three (3) months of contributions within the 12-month period immediately before the semester of sickness.
iii. He/she used up all company sick leaves with pay for the current year and has notified his/her employer.
iv. He/she has notified the SSS directly by filing the sickness benefit application if he/she is separated from employment, voluntary or self-employed member.

b. Maternity Leave Benefit – is the entitlement due any pregnant woman who has rendered a total of six month’s service for the last 12 months.
The conditions for entitlement:

i. She must be an SSS member employed at the time of delivery, miscarriage, or abortion, and has rendered service at least six months within one year with the same employer immediately preceding the delivery, miscarriage, or abortion.
ii. She must have given the required written notification to the SSS thru her employer. In turn, her employer must have paid at least three months of maternity contributions within the 12-month period immediately before the date of contingency. The member shall receive a maternity benefit equivalent to 100% of her average daily salary credit multiplied by 60 days for normal delivery, or 78 days in cases of Caesarean section delivery.
iii. The employer advances the maternity leave benefit to the qualified personnel in full or in two equal installments, the first to be made upon receipt of maternity leave application and the second not later than 30 days after payment of first installment. Upon receipt of satisfactory proof of such payment, the SSS will reimburse the employer after the contingency for the amount of maternity benefit legally advanced to the personnel.
iv. Maternity leave may be extended beyond 60 days upon request of the personnel due to illness medically certified to arise out of her pregnancy, delivery, complete abortion or miscarriage that renders her unfit to work. The extended leave benefit shall be a hindrance to recover sickness benefit for the same period of 60 days for the same childbirth, abortion or miscarriage.
v. An employer may allow a personnel, after her normal delivery, to report to work even before the completion of the maternity leave period provided that she is fit to go back to work as certified in writing by a competent public health authority. In addition to the maternity benefits she receives from the SSS, the employer shall pay her the basic wage or salary and other existing benefits granted by the company.
vi. The benefits consist of a 60–day allowance paid to a female member who gives birth through normal delivery, miscarriage or spontaneous abortion, or a 78-day allowance paid in case of a Caesarean section delivery. It shall be enjoyed only on the first four (4) deliveries. The duration of maternity leave during which the personnel does not report for work may be extended for medical reasons, but in the absence of an agreement, such extension shall be without pay or allowance.
vii. In addition to what SSS is giving, DLS-CSB is giving personnel the difference of their salary had they worked during the maternity leave and the maternity benefit SSS is providing.

Maternity Benefit is computed as follows:

a. Exclude the semester of contingency (delivery or miscarriage)

   A semester refers to a period of two (2) consecutive quarters ending in the quarter of contingency.

   A quarter refers to a period of three (3) months ending on the last day of March, June, September, or December.

b. Count twelve (12) months backward starting from the month immediately before the semester of contingency.

c. Identify the six (6) highest monthly salary credits within the 12-month period.

   Monthly salary credit means the compensation base for contributions and benefits related to the total earnings for the month.

d. Add the six (6) highest monthly salary credits to get the total monthly salary credit.

e. Divide the total monthly salary credit by 180 days to get the average daily salary credit. This is equivalent to the daily maternity allowance.

f. Multiply the daily maternity allowance by 60 (normal delivery) or 78 days (for Caesarean cases) to get the total maternity allowance.

Sample Illustration on How Maternity Benefit is computed

Let us say that a female SSS member gives birth on November 2009. Her maternity leave starts on November 1, 2009.

a. The semester of contingency would be from July 2009 to December 2009

b. The 12-month period before the semester of contingency would be from July 2008 to June 2009

c. The six highest monthly salary credits within the 12-month period is 15,000.00

d. Total monthly salary credit – 90,000.00

e. The average daily salary credit (daily maternity allowance)

f. The total maternity allowance due would be 30,000 or (500 x 60 days) for normal delivery while 39,000 or (500 x 78 days) for Caesarean cases.

During the maternity leave the personnel does not receive any salary. As such, the College gives in addition to the SSS Maternity allowance a portion of her salary which is computed as follows:

Basic Salary – SSS maternity allowance = additional maternity benefit

The additional maternity benefit will be given by the College so that the personnel’s premium contributions to SSS, Pag-ibig fund, Philhealth during the maternity leave are continuous. Other payables like SSS loan, Pag-ibig loan, DLSU cooperative loan, canteen charges, CEAP contributions, computer loan, housing loan will be continued for payment including penalties incurred upon return to work when they will receive their regular salary.

Appendix N

a. Meal time – The employer is required to give personnel 60 minutes time-off for their regular meals. Meal time is not compensable except in cases where lunch period or meal time is predominantly spent for the employer’s benefit or where it is less than 60 minutes. Lunch periods have been uniformly held not to constitute working within the contemplation of the overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, at least insofar as the personnel are not required to stay in the premises during the lunch period, although they may occasionally perform some emergency service. However, where the lunch period is spent predominantly for the employer’s benefit, and cannot be utilized in the personnel’s own interest, such time constitutes work time.

b. Continuous shifts – where work is continuous for several shifts, the meal time breaks should be counted as working time for purposes of overtime compensation.

c. Meal time of less than 60 minutes – The meal period should not be less than 60 minutes, in which case it is time-off or non-compensable time. The implementing rules allow the meal time to be less than 60 minutes under specified cases and in no case shorter than 20 minutes. But shortened meal time (e.g. 30 minutes) should be with full pay, and the time the personnel cannot eat (because he is still working) should also be paid. To shorten meal time to less than 20 minutes is not allowed. If the time is less than 20 minutes, it becomes only a rest period and, under the Labor Code, is considered working time.

d. Shortened meal break upon personnel request – personnel may request that their meal period be shortened so that they can leave work earlier than the previously established schedule. In such a situation, the shortened meal period is not compensable. However, certain conditions should be met:
   i. Personnel voluntarily agree in writing to shorten meal period of 30 minutes and are willing to waive the overtime pay for the shortened meal period;
   ii. There will be no diminution whatsoever in salary and other fringe benefits of the personnel existing before the effectivity of the shortened meal period;
   iii. The work of the personnel does not involve strenuous physical exertion and they are provided with adequate breaks in the morning and afternoon;
   iv. The value of the benefits derived by personnel from the proposed work arrangement is equal to or commensurate with the compensation due them for the shortened meal period as well as the overtime pay for 30 minutes as determined by the personnel concerned;
   v. The overtime pay of the personnel will become due and demandable if ever they are permitted to work beyond 4:30 p.m.; and
   vi. The effectivity of the proposed working time arrangement shall be of temporary duration.

e. Changing Lunch Break from Paid to Unpaid – the right to fix the work schedules of the personnel rests principally on their employer.

4.8.2. While recognizing that sexual harassment involves the use of power and authority by a superior against a subordinate, it must be conceded that the threat to accuse and prosecute another involving alleged sexual harassment, is also an instrument to wield power over another.
